

Rutland Historical Society Quarterly
Vol. XXI, No. 2
United Methodist Church

Written by Thom Anderson in 1991, this quarterly discusses the history of the United Methodist Church located on West Street. The original building was completed in 1898, but as the article illustrates, it burned in 1924. The church moved locations multiple times and now resides on Williams Street. This quarterly discusses specific people that were important to the church, as well as historical artifacts, including the bell.
