History of Rutland Hospital

This quarterly, published in 1996, discusses hospital care in Rutland throughout the last century. On May 8, 1891, the first meeting to discuss the Rutland hospital was held. Since then, the hospital has had its struggles, but has continued to be a success. Included in the article are detailed explanations of the motivators behind opening the first hospital. Annual reports were made to document the financial status of the hospital, which eventually led to the idea to create a larger facility.
