

Rutland Historical Society Quarterly Vol.1, No.2,1971

Center Street

The Cover of this issue shows Center Street in the winter of 1878, with an announcement at the bottom that Rev. Patrick T. Hannon will speak on Rutland and the Catholic Churches.

The opening page feature the President's Column and discusses the acquisition of a new home for the Society, as well as a few "briefs" including one that mentions a presentation by Lilial Baker Carlisle who spoke on Rutland Silversmiths and Clockmakers. Made available were copies of her book Vermont Clock and Watchmakers, Silversmiths and Jewelers: 1778-1878.

In the Who's Who section Mrs. Barbara Chiolino is listed with her particular interests in Rutland Silver and Portraits; as well as Charles Conner who wrote a popular column for the Rutland Herald entitled "100 years ago".

As the magazine unfolds for its entirety there is a highly informative map of the City of Rutland in 1852, showing not only streets but individual houses listing the then current owners; a trove for those following genealogical interests.
