

Rutland Historical Society Quarterly

Vol.43, No.2, 2013

The Story Of Lincoln Iron Works

“The Story of the Lincoln Iron Works” is related by Jack Crowther from its founding by Thomas Ross in 1868, to its final function as the Rutland Winter Farmers Market opening its doors in 2012.

The entire history of its origins, changes of ownership and usage, is accompanied by numerous photographs and a timeline of the Lincoln Iron Works site.

Numerous sources for additional reading, round out this interesting account of industry in Rutland from earliest times to the present.