Civil War Medical Care

“Civil War Medical Care “by Robert Ranftle is the fourth Quarterly issue compiled by Mr. Ranfle concerning the Civil War. The cover pictures John A. Mead, Middleton Goldsmith, John D. Hanrahan, and Charles L. Allen all prominent Rutlanders who provided medical care during that time.

The article begins with Vermont Medical care in the early eighteen hundreds; Medical Education; and specifically, Medical care in Rutland, listing Rutland Doctors during the War.

This is followed by a review of Battlefield Care; the Ambulance Corps; Field Hospitals and Ambulance Trains; and additional topics of medical needs and resolutions during war time. Numerous photographs illustrate the extensive text.
